

WHY PAY AN ARCHITECT?

Sir,—A practical builder has received by post, the enclosed. This is one method of getting sets of plans, with estimates, gratis. As one of your earliest subscribers, it is sent for your use.

July 20, 1846.

Coppy.—Inserted in the Brighton Herald, and the Sussex Express.

"To Builders.

"It is intended to build a paragon house on the Upper Dicker Common, near Horse-bridge. Any builders desirous of contracting for the same are requested to send in a plan and estimate (including the usual outbuildings), on or before the 5th of August next, to either the Rev. ———, or to the Rev. ———, from whom any further particulars may be obtained. The estimate not to exceed $501.

No charge for plans or estimates, or for any other expenses will be allowed, and all communications must be prepaid.

A committee will decide upon the plans, and the approved will be adopted, and laid before the Board for its sanction to proceed with the work."

Miscellaneous.

THE SPEAKING AUTOMATON.—Numerous attempts have been made from time to time to produce an instrument capable of imitating, with any degree of accuracy, the tones of the human voice, but until now without success. The difficulty of the task can be rightly estimated only by those who have given attention to it. Great as it is, however, it has been overcome to an extent that could hardly have been expected, by the inventor of an automaton, now exhibiting in the Egyptian Hall, Piccadilly, Mr. Faber, a German, who, according to his own statement, has devoted more than twenty-five years to its construction. By means of bellows, pipes, keys, and stops, it is made to articulate the letters of the alphabet, the numbers, and any sentences the operator pleases. It is unquestionably a great advance on all former attempts in the same direction, and deserves to be visited by all who are in search of novelty, interested in acoustical science, or willing to reward ingenuity and skill.

DESTRUCTION OF BARRACKS AT LODDIANAH.—On the 21st of May, a violent storm of wind destroyed the whole of the barracks of Her Majesty's 50th foot, when eighty-four persons were killed, and 135 wounded. They were ill-built temporary structures, not fitted for their position.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

"A Subscriber." If the shed did not exceed 8 feet in height, and half a square in area (say 10 feet by 4 feet), and was detached from any other building, and from ground not in the same occupation, to an extent equal at least to its own height from the ground, then it might be of timber. If larger, it must be 30 feet from ground not in the same occupation, and 8 feet from public way.

"R." Will our correspondent favour us with an address, in confidence, to which we may write.

"J. E." We cannot speak positively without seeing the drawings.

"A Bricklayer." Send your remarks to the patentee.

"E. O. R." Basement, 16 inches; ground-floor and one pair floor, 14 inches.

"Subscriber from the beginning." You must employ a competent person to do it.

"Censor." We cannot expect all our readers to be pleased with every paper that appears in our columns. The article in question, although open to objection, has much wisdom in it, and cannot be read, in a proper spirit, without advantage.

"M." Will perhaps read the preceding.

"W. B." If the work be done in accordance with the specification, and the committee wish it altered, it should be paid for. The question of "indent" can best be decided by a competent person on the spot.

"O. R. L." Pressure of occupations has prevented us from complying. The request shall not be lost sight of.

"R. W. S." We regret that we cannot exactly understand his statement of the case.

"Next week." Rochester Cathedral, "St. Martin's."

"Reviewed." R. Telford, "patent office," Dublin, "J. A. B.," "Rev. J. W. R.," "Archibald," "J. W.," Glasgow.

"J. P." "The Month," in "Vocal Science," No. 1, (Newcastle, Dean-street, 80b). A wonderfully cheap edition of an immortal work.
